Skills Required

- A keen eye for detail and a critical mind.
- Creativity and a passionate interest in programme and video editing.
- Patience and concentration.
- The ability to listen to others and to work well as part of a team.
- A high level of self-motivation, commitment and dedication.
- Organizational and time management skills.
- The ability to work under pressure and to meet deadlines.
- Communication skills, both written and oral.
- Ability to translate ideas into complete projects.
- A candidate must also be creative in his/her approach towards editing. Converting raw footage into an edited and finished product is the Key.
- A candidate will be responsible for assembling recorded raw material into a finished product that is suitable for broadcasting. The material may include camera footage, dialogue, sound effects, graphics and special effects. This is a key role in the post-production process and your skills can determine the quality and delivery of the final product. You'll usually work closely with the Producer/Director to achieve the desired end results.

Responsibilities

- Receiving a brief, and/or may be an outline of footage and/or a short list, script, or screenplay.
- Assembling all raw footage, with camera shots either recorded or transferred onto video tape in preparation for inputting into the computer.
- Inputting uncut rushes and sound, and synchronizing and storing them into files on the computer.
- Creating a 'rough cut' (or assembly edit) of the programme and determining the exact cutting for the next and final stages.
- Re-ordering and fine-tuning the content to ensure the logical sequencing and smooth running of the TV Programme/ Video.
- Experimenting with styles and techniques including the design of graphic elements.
- Suggesting or selecting music.
- You may also carry out online editing duties, which involve finalizing technical aspects such as correcting faulty footage, grading and colouring and adding special effects.
- Meeting with the Producer/Director to determine production vision.
- Reviewing raw material to determine shot listed visuals.
- Manipulating TV Programme and Video footage using modern editing techniques.
- Maintaining continuity while moving shots according to scene value.
- Trimming footage and putting together the rough project.

- Inserting dialogues, sound effects, music, graphics, and special effects.
- Ensuring the project follows a logical sequence.
- Consulting with the Director and Production team throughout the project.
- Creating the final cut for broadcasting.

Work Experience

- ❖ You need to be extremely determined to succeed in editing, so you'll have to show a willingness to get involved and be prepared to do the most basic of tasks. Carrying out work experience, for example in other areas of media production, will give you the chance to demonstrate this and help you to decide if the precision and intensity of the work is for you.
- ❖ You'll be expected to have pre-entry experience and will need show evidence of having worked on TV program or video production or post-production, preferably via an up to date and well prepared show reel.

Remuneration

A selected Video Editor will be paid a remuneration of Rs.20000 - 24000. This amount is under revision.
